

Australian National University

Heritage Methods used in Designing Public Places

WORKSHOP

5 November 2019

10.00 - 12.30pm

Speaker

Torgrim Sneve Guttormsen

Norwegian Institute
For Cultural Heritage Research

Location

Seminar Room 1
Sir Wilson Roland Building,
Building #120, 120 McCoy Circuit,
ANU

Enquiries

E chms.cass@anu.edu.au
T 02 6125 0171
W chms.cass.anu.edu.au

This workshop is free and open to all
Light refreshments provided

Heritage Studies have over the past twenty years developed into a meeting point for many disciplines with varied scopes. Thus, it is under the scrutiny of cross-disciplinary approaches aiming at understanding how the past is acknowledged and used in today's society. In this workshop we will examine three aspects of heritage methods derived from various approaches to

- 1) How heritage can partake in designing public places;
- 2) The challenges and opportunities of an applied approach to the use of heritage methods; and
- 3) What it means to be a heritage expert and consultant in designing public places.

By discussing a variety of case studies, the participants will gain knowledge on methods suitable in various heritage projects, and how to approach the choice on heritage methods in preservation and planning situations.

Presented by:

The Centre for Heritage and Museum Studies
ANU College of Arts & Social Sciences